Sophomores

In their second year of collegiate life, young men find the road toward a degree a rocky one, full of ups and downs, fun and work, lively and dull. As they slowly mature and become more responsible, they seek out their personal goal in life.

Juniors

Realizing that his station in life is a scant two years away, the member of the Junior Class has become a no-nonsense, hard-working man. As he steps into a predominate role in student leadership, he accepts hardships and takes disappointments in stride, realizing that his glory will come in the subsequent years to come.

Seniors

The Class of '67 has successfully bridged the four-year gap between freshman registration and commencement. Long days and often-endless nights of work have taught the responsibility, ingenuity and zeal necessary for the achievement of a college degree. The endless cycle of freshman yearling to senior leader has been completed. In a boy, out a man.

O h i o C l u b

On campus there are two types of clubs, the Social Clubs and the Professional Clubs. The Professional Clubs have an obvious purpose, while the social have a fairly obscure one. On the following page we have tried to express the purposes of these various Social Clubs. Here is where the students have the majority of their off-campus Social Life brought to the campus. Here is where the Academic and the Social meet to form the real Saint Joseph's.

SPORTS

Sports enters the life of every Saint Joe Man in some way. This is our main brag, complaint, or social event throughout our years here.

In the course of a year, an Editor realizes that it is not the skill of one single person or a group of persons that makes a yearbook or any other publication a success. This success is achieved only through the cooperative efforts of the Staff, Administration, and the Students. We have tried to capture the year to the best of our ability—with the cooperation of you: the students and faculty of Saint Joseph's. To those of you who extended your cooperation to us, I thank you. I would also like to thank those on my staff for the excellent job that they did. My only regret is that their toils and sacrifices will probably go unnoticed, so I have used this page to extend to them my most sincere thanks.
